

Focus on Redmond

www.redmond.gov | Vol XXII No 3 | Fall 2008

Award Winning Redmond Artist

Talk about an artist in (volunteer) action! Patti Simpson Ward not only creates American Primitive paintings of Redmond landmarks such as the Bill Brown Building, Marymoor windmill and the Stone House, she also lends her touch to the Redmond Historical Society!

The elegant look and layout of the society's monthly newsletter, which reaches 1,000 people, is Patti's creation as volunteer graphic artist. She's also on the society's board of directors, and before that she competed in and won second place in the Society's 2005 heritage art show, which drew 65 artists! To sign up for the newsletter, go to www.redmondhistory.org.

To see additional samples of Patti Simpson Ward's work, visit <http://pattisimpsonward.com/PugetSound.htm>.